There are no translations available.

A new project has been added to the web site: A Car Audio Alarm. With this project you can mount a small siren with a magnetic sensor behind the front panel of your car audio or navigation system. It will give a loud sound when somebody removes the front panel to steal your precious system.

Phoca PDF